I think most of the reason authors use this trope is as a plot device to justify a heroine's love interests being insanely protective. From the first moment they met, Chase and Brooke had chemistry. Nora Jacobs is different. JennyHarpersays: Wednesday: view spoiler [Since the ending is fresh in my mind, I have to wonder what the point of Wednesday the dog getting hit by a car. I hate books that are slow developing their characters' relationships like that unless it's done in a way that doesn't make me bored out of my mind waiting for something to happen.
